FOST MORIEM EXAMINATION.—EXTERNAL APPRICANCES.

On the upper part of the right side of the chest, an emphysematous condition of the cellular tissue existed; on the left side of the chest, from the armpit to a short distance below it, the same condition was manifest. Between

On careful dissection, this wound was found to bave penetrated to the cavity of the chest, grazing and lightly fracturing the right edge of the sternum or breast bone. From its point of entrance into the cavity of the chest, the track of said wound passed obliquely downwards and backwards in front of the pericardium, without wounding the membrane, to the lifth rib, which was fractured at a point six inches distant from its sternal extremity. After having travers ed the rib the track of said wound assumed a direction upwards and backwards through the soft parts forming the wall of the chest, and the arm pit to the posterior surface of the arm, at which point existed a small incised wound. The parts within the cavity of the chest traversed by the track of the above described wound were the anterior edge of the upper lobe of the right lung, the tissues existing between the pericardium and the sternum, and the apper lobe of the light lung, the tissues existing between the pericardium and the sternum, and the upper lobe of the light lung, the tissues that the left lung being nearly or quite six of said wound in the left lung being nearly or quite six inches, and being in the greater part of its course much nearer the posterior surface of the lung than the anterior, its nearest approach to said posterior surface being about half an inch.

SAY ANDREAS, Sept. 16, 1859.

This morning at seven o'clock, five miles from San Andreas, a duel was fought between Dr. Peterson Goodwyn and Col. Wm. Jeff Gatewood. The weapons used were rifles; distance forty yards. At the first fire Dr. Goodwyn fell mortally wounded, and died about two hours afterwards. Hon. W. T. Lewis and Major Glenn (in place of J. P. Vaughan, who did not arrive from Sacramento in time), acted for Dr. Goodwyn, and Capt. R. Pope and Martin Rowan for Col. Gatewood. The principals displayed great bravery and gentlemanly deportment. Dr. Goodwyn died universally respected.

Most, in fact all, of the above gentlemen are well known to the public.

Since Fernando Wood has announced himself as a candidate, and has challenged his enemies to combine all the elements that can be combined against him, there is now a prospect of such a combination, as Mr. Wood has organized an anti-Regency State Central Committee, and intends going to Charleston with a delegation from the people of the Congressional Districts of the State, to contest those appointed by the Regency Convention. Tammany may combine against Mr. Wood in order that his defeat might destroy his prestige at Charleston.

FOR ALDERMEN.

The Board of Aldermen consists of seventeen members rom as many Aldermanic districts, which districts em-from as many Aldermanic districts, which districts embrace the same wards and sections of wards as enumerated above in the Assembly districts.

Members of the Board are elected for the term of two years, those in the odd numerical districts being elected one year, and those in the even numerical districts the next following year.

The election this year takes place in the even numerical districts. At the first election for Aldermen, in 1857, under the present charter, these eight districts were represented by seven democrats and one republican. Last year five republican-American Aldermen were elected from the odd numerical districts, and four democrats. If the democracy are divided this year upon their Aldermanic candidates in December, four opposition members will probably be elected, in which case the complexion of the next Board of Aldermen will be republican-American.

Szoond District.—This district is not at present represented. Alderman John Clancy, formerly President of the Board, on being elected to the County Clerkship hast fall, left a vacancy in the Board which has not been filled, as it ought to have been, by the ordering of a special election.

The republican quartette came down in the same train, but whether they came on the "dead head!" system deponent sayeth not. The precise mission of these rival bands of wire-pulling politicians, just at this particular time, is a problem except to the initiated. Soon after their arrival, the Albany Regency Circus Company, and Condence Cassidy, Cagger & Co., held a secret caucus in one of the private pariors of the St. Nicholas Hotel, but the business transacted was supposed to be purely of a financial nature.

It is rumored that the late begging excular of Confidence Cassidy, Cagger & Co., to wealthy democrats throughout the State, ostensibly for the purpose of working the State democratic "masheen," but defacto to pay for the support of their sickly newspaper, the Albasand Argus, not having met with that success in the return of dollars and cents that was expected, they determined to make a financial begging four throughout the State, beginning at New York.

begging tour throughout the State, beginning at New York.

New York city, has always been an El Dorado to Confidence Cassidy, Cagger & Co.—a perfect placer in raising the cash; but now, in place of receiving rich "nuggets" from our wealthy democrats, who have seen through the confidence games of Cassidy, Cagger & Co., they find the "cold shoulder" turned on them. Hereafter the Regency will have to prospect in other fields to "raise the wind" to carry on their individual schemes. They had better call on the opponents of the "irrepressible conffict" party.

ANOTHER REPORT OF THE MEETING.

A fully attended meeting of the Democratic State Committee was held to-day at the St. Nicholas Hotel. All the candidates for State offices were present, with a large number of prominent democrats from different parts of the State. The greatest confidence was expressed in the success of the whole ticket, and vigorous measures adopted for pushing the canvass with spirit.

Interesting Note from Mr. Morrissey. TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

I have seen the card of Mr. John C. Heenan, under date of yesterday, in which he responds to my recent state-ment that I would meet him or any other man for $10,000 amount, and by kindly giving me the option to fix the time for the fight to come off, either before or after his approaching fight with Sayers. In reply to this I desire to state that I will avail myself of the privilege he has tendered me, and agree to fight him after his battle for the championship of England, whether he win or lose, for $10,000 a side, within four or eight months after the dat of his fight in England, just as he may choose. In accor of his fight in England, just as he may choose. In accordance therewith I have this day made a deposit of $500 with the editor of Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, to bind any match we may agree upon. As an apology for my being willing to make a new match with Mr. Heenan, in opposition to my previous determination not again to appear in the prize ring, I have to say that I do so in order, if possible, to arrest the course that Mr. Heenan has been pursuing toward my friends; and as he has whipped one of my former seconds, and also recently threatened to whip the other, I thought it my duty to them to come forward and give him a chance, if he could, to whip me. It was under the irritation caused by this threat of his that I made the statement which drew forth his card, and not from any deliberate intention or desire on my part to again enter the prize ring. However, having said what I did, I am willing to be as good as my word; and in the meantime, I sinceroly hope that Mr. Heenan may whip the Chanipion of England, so that I may be able to meet him as a winner—a pleasure which he could not afford me nim as a winner—a pleasure which he could notafford m now. I will conclude by repeating that $500 of my money is now on deposit with the editor of Wilkes' Spirit of the Times with the view of binding our proposed match. I will remain there for ten days for Mr. Heenan to cover if he still feels so inclined. JOHN MORRISSEY.

All their public parades take place after sunset, typical of the quietness of their deeds of charity. The procession last night was in honor of the festival of the Seven Cardinals, which occurs but once in thirteen years, the next one being in 1872. It was formed at half-past ten o'cleck, at the Ecce Signum lodge rooms in Broadway, the officers of the Order being dressed in various colored ancient looking dresses, with helmets, crowns, red caps, representing soldiers, spearmen, knights, priests, monks and cardinals, and their faces disguised from the detection of the outsiders. The rank and file of the Order were attired, some in black and some in white dominoes, and had a very striking resemblance to the ghosts and grave diggers in our metropolitan theatres. The procession was preceded by a volunteer escort of young men and boys, to the number of one hundred, who walked in six platonos, each man armed with a stick in lieu of a musket; then came the high functionaries of the Order, with drawn swords; then came the banner bearring a large book—probably containing the mysteries of the Order; then the brotherhood strung out in single file, those dressed in black on one side, and those in white on the other. About midway marched an individual personifying Death; and directly behind him was a bier, covered with black cloth, borne by four knights in armor, guarded by four others with Yankee muskets. The procession was accompanied by a drum corps, who played a dead march along the route. The affair created quite an excitement, and attracted thousands of people on the route of march, which was down Broadway to Fourth avenue, and around Union square back to the lodge room in Hrough the Bowery to Fourth avenue, and around Union square back to the lodge room in hor down as a trumphal procession numbered about six hundred men. Special Despatches to the Herald. WASHINGTON, Oct. 11, 1859.

It is understood that the British Minister, Lore Lyons, has received a peremptory and important despatch from his government, demanding explanations from our government of the course of Gen. Harney in the San Juan affair, to which the Secretary of State is now preparing a reply, which will vindicate fully our rights, and doubtless cover the whole ground of the controversy to the satisfaction of the American people. The whole matter will be laid before the President on his return to-morrow.

A communication has been received from the British government, through Lord Lyons, requesting that their acknowledgments may be conveyed to Mr. Ward, our Minister to China, and Com. Tatnall, for their friendly conduct at the affair of the Peiho.

The estimates of the Pension Office are nearly completed, and those of the Land Office have already been sent to the Secretary. The following are some of the estimates sub-mitted to the Secretary from the General Land Office:— For surveys in California, $90,000; Kansas and Nebraska, $55,000; Oregon, $31,000; New Mexico, $25,000; Wash ington, $20,000; other surveys, $68,000. Hon. J. C. McKibbin sworn:—I witnessed a duel on the morning of the 18th instant, at or about seven o'clock; it took place in San Mateo county, near the dividing line, and near the south end of Lake Merced; the principals in that duel were Senator D. Terry won the choice of waters and the principal of the property of the choice of waters. and near the south end of Lake Mercod; the principals in that duel were Senator D. C. Broderick and Chief Justice D. S. Terry; the distance was ten paces; the weapons were duelling pistols; the friends of D. S. Terry won the choice of weapons; the choice was determined by throwing up a half dollar piece, and calling head and tall; the principals after saying they were ready, were given the words, which were "irre—one, two;" they were to fire between the words "ire" and "two;" I saw the pistols loaded with leaden builets in the presence of both seconds of both parties; they were accepted as being satisfactory; the principals took the positions assigned them at the distance of ten paces; their eyes were at right angles to a straight line between one principal and the other; after taking their pesitions the pistols were taken up by the seconds, eocked in each other's presence, and the halt trigger set; each second then proceeded to his principal and delivered the weapon; the seconds then returned some distance out of the line of fire, and the word was given by a second of Mr. Broderick, "fire"—one, two;" as near as I could judge, Mr. Broderick discharged his pistol between the words "fire" and "one," about one second intervening between the reports of the two pistols; the report of Mr. Terry's pistol was subsequent, but with a very slight interval. Mr. Broderick appeared to look with surprise at the course his ball had taken; I was about 12 feet from him, midway between the parties; Mr. Broderick seemed to gradually wheel and droop; he lowered himself upon the ground; I ran up to him, and tried to assist Dr. Leehr in opening his garments; I saw the wound; the blood was not flowing freely; there were no other shots fired; the ball from Mr. Terry's pistol wounded Mr. Broderick; Dr. Loohr then proceeded to examine the wound, and while doing so, the services of Dr. Hammond were tendered and accepted; the physicians gave him all the relief in their power, and in the course of three quarters of an hour he was taken up a
